ART FROM NORTHEAST OHIO
SET FOR MIDWESTERN TOUR

Painting and graphic works by 44 artists of Ohio's Western Reserve area went on display Saturday, June 12 at The Cleveland Museum of Art.

The exhibition will continue until July 15 at which time the pictures will be packed to begin a touring circuit to locations in Indiana, Kansas, and Wisconsin, as well as Ashtabula, Findlay and Springfield, Ohio.

This year marks the first occasion in which the traveling show has been exhibited in Cleveland, although the Museum has organized traveling exhibitions of this type for 37 years. This year's 38th circuit begins in September 1965 and will close in April. It may be seen at the following locations:

The Ashtabula Fine Arts Center, Ashtabula, Ohio, September 25 - October 20; Purdue University, Lafayette, Indiana, November 1 - November 28; Findlay College, Findlay, Ohio, December 10 - December 26; The Kenosha Public Museum, Kenosha, Wisconsin, January 7 - January 26; Indiana State College, Terre Haute, Indiana, February 7 - February 28; Kansas State Teachers College, Emporia, Kansas, March 1 - April 1; Wittenberg University, Springfield, Ohio, April 13 - May 4.

The pictures to be shown were selected by a Museum staff committee. Some were chosen on the basis of meritorious work exhibited by the artist in past years; others were selected from a large group of entries submitted to the ~~the~~ Museum's 47th May Show which closed June 13.

Works in the traveling exhibition are for sale with the understanding that purchased works (except duplicates of graphic prints) will not be available to collectors until the exhibition has completed its circuit.

* To editors: A selection of photographs of works in the exhibition is available on request.
